COURT ACTION THREAT IN U. S. UTILITY PROBE

Ship Wrecked During Search For Lost Boy

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—Four men were killed today when a plane piloted by George Peck of Tucson crashed on the northern slope of Santa Catalina mountains. The party was searching for Bill Hyatt, missing Tucson newsboy.

The dead: George Peck, pilot, Clifford Nelson, Deputy Sheriff, Harold Whitman of Tucson and an unidentified youth believed to be a friend of Peck. The plane was a sister ship to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis."

All four bodies were burned almost beyond recognition and were in the plane, indicating they were killed in the crash before the fire started.

The fourth victim of the crash was identified early tonight as Bruce McIntyre, 19, of Omaha, Neb., a student at the University of Arizona at Tucson. He was the son of George O. McIntyre of Omaha.

Peck's plane was found wrecked and burned at noon by a posse.

Body Of Youth Found By Posse

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—The body of Bill Hyatt, missing 12-year-old Tucson youth, was found today by a posse of De Mole boys two and a half miles north of the old Tucson Inn.

The body was found at 4 p. m., approximately five hours after four men were killed in an airplane crash while on the search.

The mother of the boy, for whom

M'GOMERY WARD DEAL FURTHERED

Reports published exclusively in the RECORD-HERALD on Oct. 13, regarding the completion of the deal for the location of the Montgomery Ward Co. retail store, at Ninth street and Nevins avenue were borne out yesterday with the placing of the deeds to the property in escrow with the Contra Costa Title Co.

Although attempts were made to deny this latest development in Richmond, at the time the RECORD-HERALD published the account of the plans for the building, its location and cost on construction, officials reaffirmed the statements made in the RECORD-HERALD on Oct. 13.

As previously stated the firm of Davis Pearce of Stockton will build the $250,000 structure containing 26,000 feet of floor space with fronting on Ninth street and Nevins avenue. The structure will contain 2 stories and a mezzanine floor and will probably be ready for occupancy shortly after the first of the year.

The lease which has been prepared for the leasing of the building to the large company has been sent to the head offices of the firm in Chicago by airmail. As soon as the formality of affixing the signatures of the officials at Chicago has been completed the lease will be returned here and construction will be started.

Ross Calfee and John Deatch are the former owners of the property, which fronts 107 1-2 feet on Ninth street and 100 feet on Nevins avenue.

The dramatic discoveries of the north and the south poles will be described (and illustrated) by Ralph A. Wolfe, noted author who has just completed extensive research into the epic of exploration.

Follow this stirring, often tragic, story in the RECORD-HERALD daily. You may want to clip and save each installment, but turn now to page two.

SCHOOL ROW HITS ALBANY

The battle between the Albany city council and citizens of that community has grown more tense as the result of action of the city council Monday night.

The council recently attempted to pass a special $200,000 school bond tax which met with heavy opposition. It is alleged that circulars were broadcast by the taxpayers' league declaring that the city was bankrupt. The council demanded an apology and declared that it would start suit against 52 residents for libel.

Monday night it was shown that the council had not registered the letters sent to the citizens demanding an apology. As a result the council decided not to file a suit if written retraction of the statements are made.

Thomas Carlson, Richmond attorney, appeared and had the council remove the name of J. M. Stewart, 1313 Marin avenue from the list.

Stewart's name was used without his permission, Carlson declared.

The council declares that the city has $14,000 in surplus funds now in the city treasury.

RADIO TALK WITH MARS FAILS

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—May be Martian girls are late for dates, like their earthbound sisters—whatever it was Oonarrun, the woman on Mars with whom Dr. Hugh Mansfield Robinson claims to be in "telepathic" communication told him today that his radio messages over the Rugby station had failed to reach the planet.

"Mars received neither message. Do not attempt to use Rugby again. Make the next attempt from America. Go home now to bed and do not be downhearted. You have done enough for the day," Oonarrun said in a "telepathic" message Robinson said he received.

Dr. Robinson said late today he had been in telegraphic communication with Mars during the afternoon and informed the planet radio operators that a message would be sent them at 2:15 a. m. (9:15 p. m., est.). He said they replied to him by "shouting through a huge megaphone."

Minute Details

Shortly before the time set for sending the message to Mars, Robinson described a dramatic two-hour session in the presence of the American medium, Suzanne Harris. During which final arrangements for the experiment were completed.

Robinson said he held a lengthy telepathic conversation with Martians and arranged to the most minute detail for the sending and reception of the message.

Two messages will be despatched. They will read "love to Mars" and "God is love." Both will be written in code and the code

Seven Officials Of Power Firm Must Answer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—Seven officials of the Electric Bond and Share company, New York, were notified today that legal action would be instituted "as soon as practicable" to require them to answer questions in the federal trade commission's utilities inquiry.

The witnesses, six of whom appeared for the first time, reaffirmed the stand taken by the company last week when it refused, through two executives, to produce documents or respond to questions asked by commission investigators.

After the hearing today, during which the commission tried repeatedly to elicit answers from the witnesses regarding amounts allegedly spent to influence public opinion against public ownership of utility plants, Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch said the commission will resort promptly to the courts to require compliance.

Vote Fund Denied

The company relented in its attitude, however, sufficiently to deny that any contributions have been made to political campaigns involving presidential vice-presidential or senatorial candidates since 1925. Company auditors, who said the examined all vouchers for the past three years, gave this testimony.

Other than this testimony, which was given voluntarily by company witnesses who were not under subpoena, the commission failed to receive answers to any of its questions. The effect of the company's defiance of the commission, it was said, will be to indefinitely delay the investigation while the legal issues involved are being decided in court.

Verbal Tilt

Testimony of each witness, including Ralph B. Peagin, a vice president, A. E. Smith, comptroller, and E. P. Summerson, secretary, was a long series of "I decline to answer that question," punctuated by verbal outbursts from the company attorney and McCulloch.

Appeal Forwarded In Richmond Case

The appeal of Reuben Mendez and Manuel Romero from a jail sentence of disturbing the peace was forwarded to the Appellate court yesterday by Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom.

The defendants through their attorney, Will S. Roberson, allege that they did not understand the exact nature of the charges at the time they pleaded guilty. They originally were charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Alstrom who conducted the trial holds that they were informed of their rights through an interpreter, Sgt. Charles Mahuke. Roberson contends that Sergeant Mahuke was not a proper interpreter since he is a member of the police department.

The charges were the result of an alleged knife scrape during a street quarrel over two women in North Richmond several weeks ago. Mendez and Romero pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace and received jail sentences. After serving part of the sentence, the men asked to have their plea changed. Suzanne Mendez, a third member arrested, pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial.

Plans Progress On East Richmond Bus

Following the action of the city council Monday night, showing the members to be in favor of a bus service for the East Richmond district, Edward Lucas, who made application for a bus permit, yesterday declared that he will proceed with plans for the service.

The council is expected to give the permit its first reading next Monday night, after a change in the present city ordinance regulating fares has been made. The following week noon, the granting of the permit, the matter will be taken before the railroad commission for its approval. No obstacles to the service is expected from this source, according to City Councilman A. L. Paulsen. Permission will be sought by City Attorney Thomas M. Carlson.

Since negotiations were started by the Richmond Transit company for a transportation permit, application for the establishing of a similar service in the district has been made by the Key System Transit company which asked the city to subsidize a transportation service by guaranteeing to meet deficits. The council sometime ago went on record as being opposed to subsidizing any of the lines in the city.

Developments in the service proposed by the Richmond Transit company have reached the stage whereby it is expected that transportation will be provided to the residents of the district within 30 days. By that time it is expected that necessary permission from the city council and the railroad commission will have been secured.

MAE SWOONS AFTER TRIAL

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—Just as Mae Murray was found not guilty of forcibly entering the home of Jack Donovan, actor and screen star, she fainted in police court here today.

The actress collapsed at the moment Judge Spencer ruled there was nothing to support Donovan's charge that Miss Murray forced entrance to his home.

Miss Murray contended the action was taken by the architect because she recovered in court $32,000 paid to him toward the purchase of a home. She testified she had permission to enter the residence.

Miss Murray was revived and removed to her home by her husband, Prince David M'Dvian, of Georgia.

Naval Parley Delayed Until 1931, Belief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—President Coolidge foresees little hope of holding another conference for limitation of naval armaments before 1931 because of the failure of the attempt of Great Britain and France to reach a naval agreement, it was said at the White House today.

The president's views were occasioned by publication by the French and British governments of correspondence relating to the now famous Anglo-French so-called secret naval accord, which brought a firm reiteration of the United States' stand on naval limitations as expressed at the 1927 Geneva conference.

Coolidge's reference to a probable conference in 1931 was due, it was said, to the fact that the Washington arms treaty requires another conference that year.

While the president was represented as being gratified by the change in attitude shown by France and Britain in the attempted Anglo-French naval accord compromise, he was said to feel that the attempt marked little real advance toward the solution of the complex naval problem.

France rejected Coolidge's invitation to the 1927 Geneva conference, and its correspondence with England on their projected naval agreement disclosed a willingness to approach the naval problem.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—A 15-year-old boy, the youngest person ever to be sentenced to the state penitentiary, will leave here Wednesday afternoon for Salem to begin serving a life sentence for second degree murder.

Rex Mead a mere slip of a boy, pleaded guilty to the murder charge Tuesday afternoon before Presiding Judge Jacob Kanzier and received the maximum sentence.

Mead escaped in Dewey's automobile and police picked up his trail when he attempted to sell the machine in Salem. He was apprehended at Reedsport Ore., the next day.

TEMPERATURE RANGE

A weather map for the month of September would indicate the division of the United States into three temperature districts ranging from very cool to warmth above normal, it was stated by the Weather Bureau, Department of Agriculture.

Rainfall was unevenly distributed, exceeding the monthly normal by two to four times in some districts, and being less than 10 percent of normal in others. The Bureau's statement, reviewing September weather conditions, follows in full text:

September was decidedly cool from the middle Mississippi and Ohio Valleys northward and north-eastward, with near-normal warmth in most of the south and great plains and above normal rather generally west of the Rocky Mountains.

In the first-named region, the monthly mean temperatures ranged generally from 2 degrees to as much as 5 degrees below normal, while in the South they were mostly 1 degree or 2 degrees below, although a number of localities reported normal temperature. In the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain districts the averages were mostly from 1 degree below normal to 2 or 3 degrees above, while in the Great Basin they were from 2 to 4 degrees above, except locally.

The highest temperature reported during the month from a first-order station was 112 degrees at Yuma, Ariz., and the lowest, 17 degrees, at Williston, N. Dak., compared with previously high records of 114 degrees at Yuma and a minimum of 0 degrees in September at Yellowstone Park, Wyo. The record minimum temperatures for the month were equaled or slightly exceeded at several stations in the Ohio valley and Lake region and locally in the northwestern Great Plains.

Rainfall for the month was very unevenly distributed. In the south Atlantic area from Maryland southward, the amounts were exceedingly heavy many stations reporting from two to as much as four times the monthly normal. It was heavy also in west Gulf sections, and moderately above normal in a local area of the upper Mississippi Valley, parts of the Northeast and in the western upper Lake region. Elsewhere precipitation was mostly scanty, with some areas receiving less than 10 percent of the normal.

MR. SMITH ON SAVING THE FARMER

Governor Smith, campaigning through the West to save the farmer's vote, has had one more bright idea. As a result he now favors the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill—the equalization fee—maybe.

The governor's championship of the "principles" of this scheme must come as something of a shock to the farmers of New York state. They must remember that less than two years ago, when the McNary-Haugen bill was as bitterly debated as it ever has been, Governor Smith confessed quite frankly, that he couldn't think of a thing that would help the farmer. Speaking before the Chamber of Commerce at Albany, January 26, 1927, Mr. Smith said:

"When the farmer stops sitting on the top of the world and begins thinking and keeping the rule of economics, he will begin to help himself. I have suggested more new things in the last six years for the state than any other man, I fully believe, but I can't think of any way of really helping the farmer."

Three thousand students of New York University are going to study Wall Street. We know a lot of fellows who have been studying it for a quarter of a century and they still get on the wrong side of the market.

Talking movies may get popular, but there will always be long periods on the screen when there can be no talking—for instance the 500 feet during which the hero hands the heroine her first lingering kiss.

What Shall I Wear?

By JUDIE

Matron's hat of grey felt with black hatter's plush. Brim longer on one side.

Dear Judie,
I have a terrible time getting a hat. To begin with, I am not bobbed, and my hair is quite grey. With such a handicap I find difficulty in getting hats which do not make me appear older. I've simply must have a brim, and I've never, is neutral enough to come do not want a black hat, I shall line well, especially when helped by a clear complexion. I have plenty of natural color and grey eyes. —Marah.

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane,
Will you tell me where I can have made up the lotions for enlarged pores that you recommend? I prefer to purchase them—I would also like to know how to remove superfluous hair from the underarm, chin and lip.
I have long abundant hair but it is brittle and split. In order to keep my hair free from dandruff I have to shampoo it every week. Also, will you please tell me of a good liquid oil to use for my hair? I've tried several kinds but don't like them as they plaster my hair to my head. —Distressed.

Any reliable druggist can prepare the lotions. I recommend for enlarged pores and if you prefer to buy them ready made he can suggest a safe and effective make.

To remove the hair from your underarm, I would suggest shaving with a razor shaped for just this purpose. After you have shaved, use an antiseptic and healing lotion to prevent infection or soreness. If you want to do away with the hairs on your chin and lip permanently, I would suggest that you go to a good dermatologist who can treat them with an electric needle. If the growth is not any possible effects of the chemicals in the preparation. You won't have to use liquid oil for your hair to keep it glossy and you won't have brittle, split ends if you brush your hair for ten minutes a day and give yourself a hot oil shampoo every two weeks. This will help eliminate the dandruff.

Yours for Style, JUDIE.

'HOAX MURDER' WIDOW WINS INSURANCE

The United States Supreme Court yesterday ordered that $25,000 insurance money for which Charles Henry Schwartz, Oakland chemist, committed his sensational "hoax murder" in 1925, must be paid to his widow.

Washington dispatches announced that the Supreme Court has refused to review the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which held that the insurance company must pay the widow, Mrs. Alice Edith Schwartz.

This decision is believed to end three years of court litigation over the policy taken out by Schwartz as part of his "perfect crime" plan.

Schwartz secured an insurance policy on Aug. 25, 1921 and a year later, July 25, 1925, lured an itinerant laborer into his Walnut Creek laboratory, murdered him, and then set the building on fire in an effort to make the police believe that Schwartz himself was dead.

Police refused to believe that Schwartz was dead and on Aug. 9, 1925, the chemist was located at an Oakland apartment house, was surrounded by police, and as they broke in through the door he shot himself to avoid capture.

Mrs. Schwartz secured to collect the insurance money but the insurance company fought the claim on the grounds that Schwartz had killed himself five days before the one year suicide policy in the clause had elapsed.

The company's claim was upheld by Federal Judge F. H. Kerrigan of the district court, but the circuit court of appeals reversed his decision.

HUGHES LAUDS TRAINING OF HOOVER

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 23.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover's training as secretary of commerce and administrator of governmental affairs has given him necessary qualifications for the presidency, Charles Evans Hughes declared here tonight in his first campaign speech for the republican nominee.

"For nearly eight years," the former secretary of state said, "Hoover has been secretary of commerce of the United States and has come into direct contact with every economic problem we have. Let us have perspective. The truth is that the American people now have the opportunity of putting at the head of our government a man whose broad knowledge and executive capacity are recognized throughout the world."

Compared to Smith

Comparing Hoover to Gov. Alfred E. Smith, democratic nominee Hughes continued: "It is a poor argument that we should select a governor because of his intimate knowledge of state affairs, but should not choose a president because of his rare and intimate knowledge of national affairs."

"While Smith has been working at Albany, Hoover has been working at Washington. It is said that Smith is a quick learner. So is Hoover. In his knowledge of the problems of the nation, Hoover starts years ahead. If Smith were elected, it would take him years to learn what Hoover knows now."

Lauds Coolidge Hughes praised the Coolidge administration, saying its success was due to sound policies, which have contributed to a degree of prosperity which has excited the wonder and envy of the world.

Hughes termed the prohibition question a "sham battle." He said the democratic candidate was attempting to win enough votes in the north and east to "add to the essential dry votes of the south."

"The dries," he added, "are asked to support him (Smith) because he can do nothing, and the wets because he can do much."

SMITH STARTS ATLANTIC TOUR

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—UP—Gov. Alfred E. Smith starts Wednesday morning on the "greatest official career" — the battle of the Atlantic seaboard — in which he hopes to win the important eastern states to his presidential campaign.

Smith will leave here at 10 a. m. for Boston, where he is to speak Wednesday night, and will then carry his campaign southward through the Eastern states where there are 138 electoral votes that he hopes to capture.

Abandons Train The governor has abandoned the eleven car special train which carried him through the West and will use only his private car, St. Nicholas, the car owned by his friend W. E. Kenny, Brooklyn contractor. Instead of work cars and stateroom pullmans, the train will bear ordinary pullmans and club cars for the newspapermen.

No official announcement of the complete trip has yet been made because Smith wants to keep himself footloose for any final campaign developments. Ten minute receptions have been arranged however, at Worcester and Springfield, Mass. Before the arrival in Boston and on Thursday the nominee will cut down through southern New England toward New York in a twelve hour demonstration.

Stops Scheduled Stops are scheduled Thursday at Providence, Rhode Island, and Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport and New Haven, Connecticut. The stop at Hartford will be for two hours.

Smith spent most of the day on his Boston speech and making plans for the all-important eastern campaign. When he held his noon hour press conference in the reception room of the executive mansion, he said as he entered: "Now, gentlemen, you may shoot—and do it as fast as you can, because you can help me considerably by letting me get upstairs again. I am working on the Boston speech and I want to try to finish it today because we leave early in the morning."

No Comment "Governor," asked a newspaper representative, "have you any comment on Mr. Hoover's speech?"

Answer—"No."

Question—"Did you hear it, Governor?"

Answer—"No, I read it."

Question—"Are you going to reply to it in Boston?"

Answer—"I will give you a copy of the Boston speech before I make it."

Q—"Governor, were you not interested in that part of Mr. Hoover's speech where he said he wanted to keep the government out of competing with private enterprise, and then listed among the three things which he wanted to keep the government away from, farm relief, and prohibition?"

A—"I noticed that."

Q—"And water power. When are you going to talk on his speech?"

A—"I don't know."

Q—"You will though, won't you?"

A—"Oh, yes."

Q—"Have you been called a socialist before, governor?"

A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"That ought to get you the socialist vote. It sounds very much like the Coolidge campaign of 1924?"

(No answer.)

Q—"Governor, you have nothing to suggest that would make interesting reading?"

Nothing Happened

A—"No. I do not know that I have anything to offer. Nothing has happened."

Q—"Are you going to see anybody today?"

A—"No."

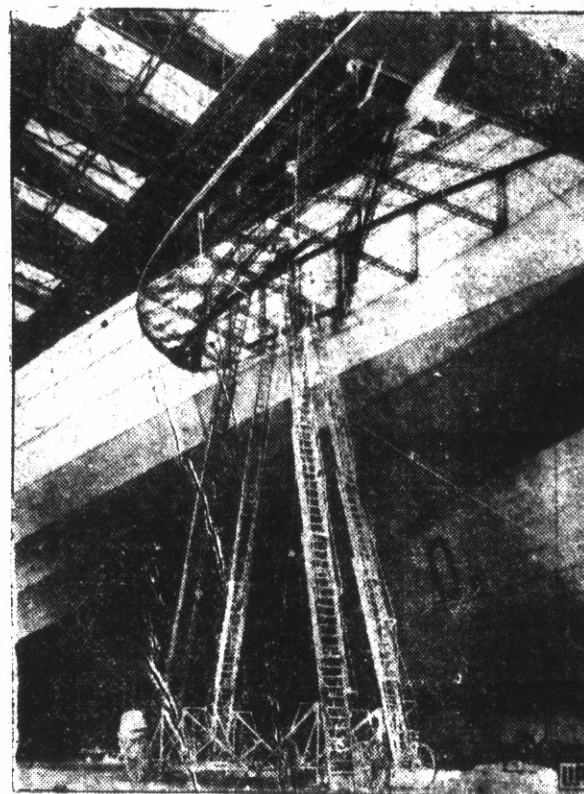

This was the sum total of information divulged from the democratic candidate's personal headquarters. His friends indicated he was considerably aroused by the New York speech of his republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, who attributed socialist intentions to Smith's program of farm relief, prohibition and water power.

The speech upon which Smith was "working upstairs" will contain full and studied answers to the charge, they said.

"I'll tell the world"

In spite of all your enthusiasm over a new salad oil or shoe or radio battery, you cannot possibly pass on the good news to more than a few people. You can't really "tell the world."

The manufacturer himself is in the same fix. He can't tell the world. His salesmen can't. His dealers can't. And the world ought to be told. It wants to know. It wants to know what's new, what's not only good, but better than the best; or cheaper; or more durable; or more useful; or just plain more fun.

Advertising "tells the world" today. Back of every advertisement is somebody, perhaps a whole group of somebodies, full of enthusiasm just as you are when you discover something that makes things easier or better for you. They are telling just as many people as they can reach in the world in person. But that is only a tiny fraction of those they speak to in advertising.

Advertisements are truly personal things to the people who write them. And they can be exceeding personal for you, too, for they mean better food, better clothing, increased health, a happier home, greater prosperity.

Read the advertisements—they tell you what you want to know

New Razor Blade Sensation

Marvelous Engineering Achievement by World-Famous Manufacturer Wins Popular Favor

Now the fellows with tough beards and tender skins have no excuses for imperfect shaves. No complaints about old-fashioned razor blades that pull and scrape. The Valet AutoStop Razor—with the new "VALET" blade—is a shaving wonder. The AutoStop Safety Razor Co., which developed it, have had all the practical experiences that make up a quarter century's devotion to shaving problems.

Introduced to the public a short time ago, this new "VALET" blade has received wide acclaim—and dealers everywhere report unusual sales. The name VALET cut through the blade identifies this shaving marvel. Now you can do your shaving "trick" in less than 2 minutes. The first shave—and many shaves after, with the same blade—brings home to you quite forcefully the fact that shaving can be a pleasure instead of a habit.

Not just a habit—but a pleasure

Try the Valet AutoStop Razor—with the new "Valet" blade. The first, second—even the tenth or fifteenth shave with the same blade, convinces you beyond doubt that before your shaving was only an uncomfortable habit—now it's a pleasure.

Accept No Substitute!
